Moving to New Location but in Same Block

We wish to call attention to our customers and the public that we are moving just two doors east of our present location, but in the same block at where we wish to have our customers call. I also wish to call attention that on March 1st, I will conduct my business on a strictly cash and carry basis, doing away entirely with all charge accounts. I have seen the need of conducting my Grocery Business on this basis owing to the fact that I can sell cheaper for cash and at the same time give great assistance to the public in the way of saving money for cash sales and transactions. We all want to save as much as we can and by paying cash you can do so. It costs quite a great deal for operating expenses for delivery and extra help high, which the grocer has to add to his costs and the buying public pays for this cost when buying goods for credit. For instance this overhead expense cost runs from 10 to 20 per cent on an average and by paying cash I can save you this 10 to 20 per cent on your cash buying when you trade with us. All orders amounting to $5.00 or more I will be pleased to deliver free of charge. I take this opportunity to thank my customers and the public for their past business, and indeed trust for a continuance of the same under my new cash and carry plan.

80 MILLION TO CELEBRATE LUTHER DAY

New York Feb. 25.—Eighty million of Lutherans and innumerable other Protestants, it was announced here today by the National Lutheran Council, will participate in a world-wide celebration on April 17 of the 400th anniversary of the arraignment of Martin Luther before the Diet at Worms.

"When Luther nailed his ninety-five theses upon the door of the University of Wittenberg and refused to recant his alleged heresies despite the threat of excommunication," says the statement of the council, "he helped to usher in modern religious and civil liberty. Denouncing as tyranny the enslavement of Christian conscience, the dauntless monk declared the Bible to be the only infallible rule of faith and practice and closed his defense with the words: 'There I stand. I can do naught otherwise. So help me God! Amen.' The main purpose of the celebration, it is stated, is to obtain a clearer understanding of how Lutherans and Christians of other denominations throughout the world may become 'more effective in bringing God's will to bear powerfully upon present unhappy world conditions.' To this end, special congregational services will be held on Sunday, April 17, and at 4 p. m. on that day, the hour when Luther was summoned to confront his judges, all Christians are invited to read the Scriptures, meditate and pray for 'purity and unity of the Christian faith, effectiveness in all good work and the advancement of true Christian liberty, brotherhood and universal good-will.'"

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

HARDING'S CABINET

Announcement of Harding's cabinet appointments inspire the nation with hopes that after March 4, the process of reconstruction will go forward, a general peace will be established between the United States and those against whom we are now technically at war due to the deadlock that has existed between the White House and the senate.

The selection of Charles Evans Hughes, as premier, indicates the end of the "do nothing" policy followed in our state department since the close of the war. There will be no further vacillation. Hughes' ability as a statesman ranks with that of the late John Hay and other illustrious secretaries of state who played such an important part in shaping the foreign policies of the Republic.

Other appointments meet with general approval as the failure of men named guarantees an aggressive policy and the application of sound business principles.

The inauguration should dispel much of the gloom that has settled over the nation because of the loss of confidence in the Wilson administration. Business in general must have some relief from the ruinous taxation and the meddling supervision. President-elect Harding promises a resumption of the policies that have made for national prosperity of all the people.

MAKE HASTE SLOWLY

Wise advice is given the state by the Fargo Forum relative to haste in forcing a recall immediately to favor a group of politicians who desire revenge more than they care for the welfare of the state.

Under the law recently initiated, political subdivisions can deposit their money in local banks. Failure of the state to sell any bonds for the furtherance of their socialist enterprises means a suspension of the industrial program.

In the meantime, the Independents have the choice of two lines of action. They can go to the people on a recall that completely renounces state socialism and promises an honest house cleaning. If too many of them are not courageous enough to scrap the whole business they can initiate one bill providing that the state treasurer be designated as industrial commissioner to liquidate the industrial scheme and provide the proper guaranty so that investors can return to North Dakota with some reasonable degree of safety.

From present indications, however, there is a reluctance to take the straight and narrow path of sound finance. There are a number of doubtful Thomases who want to "try the Townley program out" under new bosses which of course means political management.

Let us probe deeper into the operation of the industrial scheme before rushing to the people. Probably when all the sad story is told, the former nonpartisan league members who have joined the ranks of the Independents will be completely cured and we can all ride to victory on the same bandwagon of no compromise.

TEACH THEIR PARENTS, TOO

School children are to be taught fire prevention lessons, if the Forest Service can persuade legislatures to enact laws compelling this addition to the educational system.

The prime reason for fire prevention lessons is the conservation of forests by the prevention of forest fires. Rural school children will cooperate with foresters in saving the trees.

It is proposed, too, that fire prevention lessons be taught children in city schools. Some of them are in forests at some time of their lives. When not concerned with forests these city dwellers are concerned in things more easily burned than forests—their own homes, for instance.

Fire prevention lessons will be fine for the children.

They will help the children in two ways. First, the children will learn how to prevent fires; second they can teach their parents how to reduce the hundreds of millions of dollars of fire losses this country has to make good every year.

Voliva says New York is the wickedest city—and some other municipalities are more inclined to feel slighted than complimented.

JUDICIAL DIGNITY

A recent murder trial in Kentucky brought to public notice a home-like court in which judge and spectator smoke while trials are in progress. The judge puffs a briar pipe, and, occasionally the proceedings are punctuated by one of those sharp raps that is produced when a man strikes his pipe against his chair in order to shake out the ashes.

It is not recorded that justice in this court is less efficient for being so perfectly human. Nor has it been observed that it is held less in respect in that particular community because it is so home-spun and free of tinselled dignity.

Whether or not we approve of smoking in court rooms, it will be agreed that the common sense of kindly justice is more likely to be served in this informal Kentucky court room than in some other courts in which forums count for more than the substance of justice.

It was Pascal, the French philosopher, who first laughed at the mock-dignity of judges in gowns and caps and ermine in which, he said, "they wrap themselves like furry cats."

"If magistrates had true justice, they would have no occasion for square caps," he went on. "The majesty of their science would of itself be venerable enough. But having only imaginary knowledge they must employ these silly tools that strike the imagination with which they have to deal; and thereby in fact they inspire respect."

"WALL STREET" IN NORTH DAKOTA

Mr. Walter W. Liggett, a representative of the Non-Partisan League in New York, admits that the officials of the Bank of North Dakota have made mistakes and laid themselves open to censure, but he repeats the old illusion about the source of that institution's troubles. It is not withdrawal banking and State socialist business enterprises that are to blame, but "Wall Street has sent out word that the credit of North Dakota must be destroyed." What is this mysterious omnipresent engine of iniquity, "Wall Street?" It is the thrift and savings of millions of Americans. They have money to lend on good security. The bankers who have refused to try to sell the $6,200,000 of North Dakota bonds have found that the security is not good, that people have no confidence in it. Bankers don't keep the bonds. They have to sell them to other folks. It is not "Wall Street" that has made the Bank of North Dakota practically insolvent, that has made the state of North Dakota unable to borrow money at 9 per cent while the 6 per cent bonds of the adjoining state of South Dakota sell at a premium.

The Bank of North Dakota was open yesterday to receive private as well as public deposits. On time deposits for less than a year it will pay 4 per cent interest, on those for more than a year it will pay 5½. While rates of interest are higher there than here, no bank can pay such rates and prosper. After a long period of unsound banking in one direction, the Bank of North Dakota starts on unsound banking in another direction. Its last monthly statement shows that its funds have been shrinking rapidly, and that the State officials were either disingenuous or misinformed when they asserted that its disasters were caused by other banks that wouldn't pay their debts to it.

Mr. Liggett says that he has been told by a banker "in strict confidence" that there is an organized boycott of the bonds by bankers and bond houses, and that consequently the bonds are to be offered directly to the people. They have been so offered for some time. The Industrial program for which the money is to be raised includes, besides the Bank of North Dakota, a state elevator, a state mill, "an experimental flouring mill," a rural credits plan, a home building plan. According to the circular issued by the Bank of North Dakota on Feb. 1, "financiers"—that is, real and trustworthy financiers and not minions of "Wall Street"—have pronounced "the whole scheme" sound, safe and "thoroughly businesslike"; and "this Industrial Program created by the people must also be financed by the people."

If the people of North Dakota or any other State believe that the program is sound and the bonds safe, they will buy the bonds. "Wall Street" will gnash its teeth in vain. It is noticeable, however, that there is a very strong feeling in North Dakota in favor of abandoning part of the industrial program liquidating the Bank of North Dakota, winding up the affairs of the Home Building Association, transferring farm loans from the bank to a Rural Credits Board and making mandatory and public the deposit of State funds and of funds of smaller political divisions in national or State banks. The League itself is divided. The hot side is in favor of these measures. The majority against them in the Senate is only one. Everything is at sixes and sevens. The State can't pay its bills. It is possible that a recall election will be the only means of ending the confusion. Observe that the "Wall Street" view seems to prevail largely in North Dakota itself. It may be the opinion of the majority. At any rate, unwise socialist schemes and crazy political banking have produced the situation. The credit of the State can be restored by the people of the State. "Wall Street" didn't impair it, but found it impaired. Judicial friends of the Non-Partisan League would do well to stick to the facts, and cease to embroil the "Wall Street" myth.—New York Times.

FARMS AND FINANCE HOBBIES OF NEW WAR SECRETARY

John W. Weeks, new secretary of war, worked 17 years on a farm and served two years in the navy before he found that in finance and politics was where he really belonged.

WHO WEEKS IS.

BIRTH—At Lancaster, N. H., April 11, 1860.

EDUCATION—U. S. Naval Academy.

MARRIAGE—In 1885 to Miss Martha A. Sinclair. Two children.

HOME—Newton, Mass.

CLUBS—University, Middlesex, Brae Buin Country, Newton, Republican, Metropolitan, Chevy Chase, Army and Navy.

(N. E. A. Staff Special.) Boston, Mass., Feb. 25.—Here's a tip for those who will have business with John W. Weeks, who's to be secretary of war under President-elect Harding.

If you want to put him in a genial mood, open your conversation by talking about either farms or finance. They're his two chief hobbies.

Weeks "arrived" 62 years ago on a farm at Lancaster, N. H. The first 17 years of his life were spent in milking the cows, and doing the many other chores on his father's place. Tiring then of the dreary life in the hills, Weeks got up his "gumption," packed his scanty belongings in a bag, and fared forth in search of bigger worlds to conquer.

He entered Annapolis and graduated in 1881. Two years in the navy as a midshipman were sufficient to show him that he could never embrace over-sea service, and he resigned.

Becomes Banker. Shortly after he had married Miss Martha Sinclair, in 1885, he was made assistant land commissioner for the Florida Southern railroad, and in 1888 became a member of the firm of Hornblower and Weeks, bankers and brokers of Boston.

It was not until 1900 that Weeks began the active political career that has engaged him ever since. A resident of Newton, Mass., at that time he campaigned for alderman and was elected. In 1902 he was made mayor of the town. Rapid strides up the republican political ladder followed.

He went to congress in 1905 and made a name for himself as a legislator talented in finance and with a fine mind for details.

In 1912 he was sent from the house to the senate where he served until replaced recently by David I. Walsh, democrat. In the senate he took a prominent part in the debate on the Glass-Steagall currency act and on other important finance measures. He was long a member of the Committee on Military Affairs.

Is Big Man. Blue-eyed, big mentally and physically, with light hair and square shoulders, Weeks is a man of his own convictions.

He has a hankering for the old farm life and owns a large farm in the New Hampshire hills near the place where he was born. Much of his time in summer is spent there and he is more at home in the fields and taking them practical lessons in farming "as it's done in the hills."

The former senator and Mrs. Weeks have two children, a son and a daughter. Charles Sinclair Weeks, the son, served as a captain in the Yankee division in France. He's employed in a Boston bank.

Weeks has the reputation of being a plunger, a hard worker, quiet, easy-going, never spectacular, no-kecks, but despite the fact that he never becomes ruffled, he has the ability to "put things across." He was the general of the Republican forces in New England.

Weeks maintains a home in Washington, and a legal residence in Newton, Mass.

John W. Weeks, new Secretary of War, worked 17 years on a farm and served two years in the navy before he found that in finance and politics was where he really belonged.

REPEAL OF TAX ON BUTTER IS ADVOCATED

Resolutions Ask That Ten Cent Tax Be Removed by Government

Resolution urging the federal revenue department to repeal the ten cents per pound tax on butter made from sour cream have been adopted by the executive committee of the North Dakota Farm Bureau Federation and forwarded to the Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The resolution follows in part: WHEREAS The Federal Department of Internal Revenue has ruled that butter made from sour cream in which the acidity has been reduced is adulterated butter, and therefore, subject to a 10 cents per pound tax, and

WHEREAS This decision will class 75 to 80 per cent of the cream production of the United States as being adulterated and subject to a 10 cents a pound tax and that 75 or 80 per cent of the cream of course comes from the general farms on which the production of a little cream for sale is purely a side line and that throughout the northwest section of the country the distribution is difficult and it is impossible for the small farmers to get their cream in to a central station without it scuring in transit

START CAMPAIGN ON WEEDS, URGES MEISSNER

East Grand Forks, Minn., Feb. 25.—Noxious weeds, particularly the sow thistle, may cause losses running into millions of dollars in the Red River valley unless measures are speedily taken to curb them, according to John Meissner, of the government experimental station, department of agriculture, here.

Unless a campaign of control or eradication is begun, profitable agriculture will be impossible in the near future. Mr. Meissner warns farmers a noxious weed law "with teeth" is his chief recommendation for effective measures against the menace.

About 500 people are killed and 800 injured by boiler explosions every year in this country.

MRS. W. F. BAKER, of Milwaukie, Oregon, who says she has been restored to perfect health by Tanlac after having suffered for twenty years. Her statement is remarkable.

"For the last twenty years I have suffered from stomach trouble in its worst form. I was in misery all the time. If I took a drink of coffee or milk or even water, it would cause belching and gas. In fact, absolutely nothing would digest in my stomach. I always had an awful burning sensation in the pit of my stomach. I believe I have taken almost a wagon load of soda for stomach trouble. I would have to take it night and day. Gas would build me up so badly I couldn't fasten my clothes. At times my heart would palpitate and flutter so badly I would nearly smother and I would have to gasp for breath. In fact, I thought I had heart trouble."

I was very fond of onions, but they would upset me terribly.

My whole system was out of shape and I was also bothered with rheumatism and neuritis. Pains in my arms and other joints were almost unbearable. I had tried every one of my own in ailing and couldn't raise it up to my head. My hands would swell up and for a long time I was in just an awful condition.

"I told my husband I guessed I would have to give up and die, as the doctors' medicines and other things I took didn't do me any good. Then he got me some Tanlac and said I had to take it. Well, before I finished one bottle, I found the things I would eat did not bother me so much. I kept gradually getting better and finally after taking five bottles, my trouble was entirely relieved. I can now eat onions, cheese or anything I want. In fact, I am in perfect health in every way. My neuritis and rheumatism have also left me. I know that five dollars' worth of Tanlac has done me more good than a hundred dollars' worth of other medicines. I will sing the praise of Tanlac as long as I live."

The above remarkable statement was made by Mrs. W. F. Baker, whose address is Milwaukie, Oregon, R. F. N. 2.

Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by J. H. Breslow, in Driscoll by N. D. and J. H. Barlett, in Wing by H. F. Homan in Strasburg by Strasburg Drug Co.

lock John out, and then there is trouble. John storms and comes to the conclusion that the twins are monsters and should be killed and things are in a bad way. Now, some thing is going to drop. Either John will break his legs and Mary will come out to him, or Mary or the babies will get sick and John will have to go for a doctor. In some way that door must be opened and John must get a chance to see those youngsters, and when he does, we know that it will not be very long before John and Mary will think them the finest babies in the world.

How will the door be opened?

I think it is up to Mary for two reasons. First, because she caused the door to be closed, and second, because John hasn't any leg to stand on. Will Mary be big enough? The state stands in suspense. May the God of Battles protect and keep both John and Mary.

Question—Where is the sword and what sword is it?

EASY WAY OF MAKING DRESS RUFFLES

Ruffles, wide and narrow, are going to be used extensively as trimming on the sheerer wash dresses during the coming summer. Organdie, dimity, voile, tissue, lawn, and even the heavier gingham will be ruffled.

For the home dressmaker the construction of an even ruffle is the construction of a problem. Even when one's sewing machine has a ruffing attachment not all requirements can be met. For the ruffle that needs some special adjusting, or in case of one's not possessing a machine ruffler, the tension of the machine may be loosened, the stitch lengthened, and the material to be ruffled simply stretched. This done the under thread may be pulled up and the fullness adjusted wherever needed.

The seeker after truth tells a story and asks some questions. "Let us have a sword to our adversary, lest he stand helpless before us."

John, the business interests, married Mary the agricultural interests a long time ago. She worked in the office short hours. He smoked cigars, goes hunting, belongs to the club. She smokes the kitchen, mends cloths and attends church. John carries the pocket book and spends somewhat freely. Mary darns the stockings and is obliged to beg for a few pennies to get chalk to powder her nose.

In the process of time Mary brings forth a pair of twins. She calls one "State Bank" and the other "Mill and Elevator." This is such an unusual event that Mary is over solicitous, and tries to keep John at a distance. This annoys John and he uses some harsh language. Mary becomes really apprehensive and orders the nurse to

FOOD WASTED IN NIGHT REVELS BY AUSTRIANS

Extravagance Contrast to Poor Menu of Community Kitchens

PROFITEERS FLOURISH

American Charity Gives 400,000 Children a Meal a Day

Vienna, Feb. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—Vulgar display of extravagance in food and clothing is a nightly picture at the gay restaurants here while only a few blocks away hungry and scantily-clad persons are being poorly fed in community kitchens. Visitors in Vienna, who are shocked by this paradoxical condition. Others are either hardened to the contradictory sights or, in their inability to alter either extreme, can only shut their eyes to them.
Crowded theaters and operas at tremendously advanced prices, concerts sold out in advance, masked ball following masked ball in an endless riot against the coming of Lent, where whose ringleaders would bring out the police in New York and where nothing to drink but wine is served, cafes and restaurants with never an empty table, not a room to be had in the big hotels whose prices go up from week to week—that is one picture. On its reverse, foreign relief straining itself and demanding unceasing contributions in aid of a suffering populace.
Flgs in Dining Rooms.
In Austria it is the custom on New Year's Eve to bring a quailing suckling pig to public dining rooms and the red ribbon with which they are decorated is distributed in bits to guests as talismans for the coming year. The newspapers report that in one fashionable resort a woman seized the pig and bathed it in a cooler full of wine. Other women caught the original idea and imitated it to the cost of many bottles. That restaurant, incidentally, has had its license suspended for constant violation of the food and closing regulations.

Viennese claim that in all these resorts where display and expenditure of the most vulgar kind are evidenced not one real Austrian can be found, and they have not the money. They say they are supported by the hordes of profiteers of every race and every nationality that infest and infect the city.
A recent demonstration of the populace is acknowledged to have been inspired by this prodigal display of extravagance and ready money on the part of this small element of the population.
Suppress Profiteers.
The workmen demand the government should suppress profiteering and eliminate the shekel profiteer (wholesaler or middleman), and the steel trader (illicit trader), in an effort to lower the daily mounting cost of living else they will undertake to do so of their own account. They carried a miniature gallows in a recent demonstration.
The authorities and thoughtful Austrians acknowledge that this superficial front of extravagance and display is doing great harm to the city and the country. Casual travelers who spend a few days in the inner city visit these gorgeous resorts and see the high class restaurants crowded at every meal, tea dances in the afternoon, exceptionally well dressed men and women and the display of furs and jewels and articles of luxury, and the shop windows probably unexcelled in any capital, are hard to convince that beneath this veneer lies widespread privation and in certain strata actual bitter suffering.
Some 400,000 children are being fed one nourishing meal a day by American charity. Through American all the hospitals are being refurnished with long absent necessities. Nearly 200,000 Austrian children are charity guests in other countries. Indeed the charity of all non-suffering peoples is being extended bountifully to this country—regardless of creed or race, and all investigators who dig deeply into conditions acknowledge it is needed.

But not infrequently the visitor, especially the American, when he is told this, gazes on the evidence of wealth and well-being about him and remarks that it might be well to spend some of this money at home instead of demanding aid from other lands. One answer is that this phase of Vienna life brings money in and keeps it circulating. Another is that the temperance of a people must be considered.
Wine Served
The billboards are filled with announcements of reduts (masquerade or fancy dress balls). Wine is always served at these affairs at high prices. Among those about to occur, the star event is one at the State Opera for the benefit of the pension fund of the singers and musicians. The house long since sold, went for from 20,000 to 25,000 crowns each and single tickets of admission for 2,000 crowns.
Even in depreciated Austrian currency 20,000 crowns represent about 20 perfectly good American dollars or a good many balanced ration meals such as Americans are giving Vienna's children.
Much of the money thus spent comes from the wild speculation on the stock exchange that has followed the constantly fluctuating crown, and from wide open speculation in fore-castles in the stock market of thousands of crowns per share, a commonplace. Men with foreign money, smuggled in and out of other countries as the exchange rate varies, fatten on speculation and for them all Vienna is the Mecca.

State Room.
There was an old fellow named Shreve who ran steamboats before Jackson fought the redcoats at New Orleans. In Shreve's time the cabins were curtained off just like those new-fangled sleeping-car berths. The old man built wooden rooms, and he named them after the different states, Kentucky, and Illinois and Pennsylvania. So that when a fellow came aboard he'd say: "What state am I in, Cap?" And from this remark the name stateroom has spread all over the world.

Explaining History of Dress.
If all could only know the origin of all the many words we use in our daily talk, one would know much of the history of dress. Many of our most recently adopted clothes words come from France, but five hundred years ago dress terms more usually came from Italy, then the mecca of fashion. Hence, velvet came from "velluto." The Italian word to indicate shaggy. And "camisole," which has recently been derived from an earlier English usage, came from the Italian diminutive of chemise.

FARMERS ONLY CAN SOLVE THE FARM PROBLEM

Potter Says 2,000,000 Working Together Can Make Life
Attractive

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25.—The farm life should be made so attractive and the farming industry so profitable that it would be on a full equality with the advantages of the city life to remove the dangerous shifting of population from farm to town. L. B. Potter, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, told delegates attending the seventeenth annual convention of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association here today.

"More than 2,000,000 American farmers have realized that only efficient action can achieve that result," Mr. Potter said. "They have created the American Farm Bureau federation, with branches in all but two cities of the Union, to unite agricultural interests to improve farm life. That is why the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, one of the branches of the national organization, is fighting for the marketing bills now before the legislature, assisting in the development of co-operative marketing, and helping the two national committees now working to put into effect a marketing system that will give grain growers and livestock producers a voice in the sale of their products."

Restoration of Minnesota grain grades and recognition of dockage at its actual value in fixing the price of wheat are two objects sought by the farmers of the state through the federation. Mr. Potter said. Payment of dockage can be assured Minnesota wheat growers under existing state laws in the resolution now before the legislature. Minnesota grain grades in place of the present federal grades, is passed, he said.

"The dockage bill introduced in the present session would compel every country co-operative elevator to install cleaning equipment," Mr. Potter said. "If Minnesota grain grades are restored, the old dockage law passed in 1917 will come into effect. If it needs changes to make it more effective, it can be amended; but under Minnesota grades it should give the farmers all the dockage regulation they demand."

STARY TELLS OF DEALS MADE ON LEAGUE AUTOS

The letter was produced. It was from the state examiner stating that he had an opinion from the Attorney General's office to the effect that paper on automobiles stored in bonded warehouses would not be considered as excess loans. The opinion from Attorney General Langer's office was read into the record.
Questioned further regarding the bonded warehouse Stary said it was in the same building as his sales rooms, and that he thought he gave a bond to the state of $5,000.
"You have handled automobiles for A. C. Townley," he was asked.
"I've sold Townley a good many cars," he said.
"You were handling autos for the league," he said.
"I handled them for the league, everybody."

Meets Bank Man.
"Just who was it you made arrangements within the Bank of North Dakota to carry this paper?" he was asked. The answer was not conclusive. He admitted he had met L. P. McAnaney, credits department director, in Grand Forks in the fall of 1920 but did not tell of any discussion relative to the notes. The attorney asked him if it were not shortly prior to this time that the Bank of North Dakota took over the automobile notes from the Michigan City bank.
Pressed further, Mr. Stary declared that he had seen J. R. Waters, former manager of the bank, and that Waters had said the Bank of North Dakota would rediscunt any paper that was good.
"Did you tell the bankers that?" he was asked.
"Yes."

Then asked if he knew that Waters was not in North Dakota at that time, in March, 1920, when the first note was given, he said that he talked to him over the telephone probably before he left. The first note was dated March 15, 1920 and other notes were dated as late as March 25. The first was due Aug. 20.

Selling Organizers Cars.
Stary declared he did not know they were overdue and said the Bank of North Dakota had never written him a letter concerning them. He declared that after Waters left the Bank of North Dakota he couldn't rediscunt notes.

Asked about selling cars from a bonded warehouse his explanation was that he substituted a car of equal value. Asked if he had the particular cars on which the warehouse receipt loans were made he said no.
Asked if the method of league organizers getting cars was not for them to come up and give notes signed by

A. C. Townley an dStary would go into the country and get some good farmer to sign a note. Stary said it was something like that.

His attention was directed to an incident in which it was alleged A. E. Bowen, former league organizer, got a car from him. He said Bowen got a Willys-Knight car.
"That's the time he slipped away with it," queried Murphy.
Stary said he sold a Buick car to William Lemke, and admitted that there was some discount, but declared he made money in the deal and that Lemke paid him part cash and later gave him a note which he made good.

How They Got Cars.
He said Waters and Brinton got cars and that he got some Sisal Trust stock in payment for one of them.
"Do you remember selling cars to F. B. Woods?" he was asked.
"I think he drove some out—would bring some organizers down and bring some out," said Stary.

He said he took post-dated checks, and that he would take notes from A. C. Townley or Nonpartisan league and go to the bank and get the money. Attorneys and members of the committee tried to pin Stary to the proposition as to whether he had the identical automobiles on which he had made the loans on warehouse receipts but he was unable to say definitely.

Fouks On Stand.
E. L. Fouks, of Valley City, assistant cashier of the Security National Bank of Valley City, was questioned about the so-called "Valley City deal," by which it was alleged the Bank of North Dakota backed financing the league campaign to the extent of several thousand dollars through a bank there.

Mr. Fouks was called before the senate committee and on the strength of his testimony it was declared that Nonpartisan league organs had fully answered the charges made against the bank, and it was somewhat of a gross examination before the house committee.

Differing Views.
Mr. Colwell, president of the board of directors, and Mr. Ellis, of the Security National bank there, had said before the house committee that they understood that because the bank advanced $12,500 to five farmers on notes, which were assigned to the bank, they have an equal amount on deposit from the Bank of North Dakota and was not to be required to honor drafts until the note was paid.

Fouks said that he did not understand the situation that day, but had no reason to believe that Ellis or Colwell told an untruth. All of the men testified to reported understandings given by President Brady of that bank, who is out of the state and has not been heard from.
Fouks told of the Security National carrying certificates of deposit from three banks, one the American Exchange bank at Watford, which was referred to as Grant Youmans bank, the First National of Plentywood, Montana, and a bank in Alexandria, N. D. or Minnesota.

Called Story False.
Fouks said he reached the conclusion from remarks of President Brady that there was not to be money drawn on the certificates mentioned.
Record of correspondence with the Bank of North Dakota was produced, showing that the bank had replied to a request that it forward $1,000 to a Minneapolis bank by the statement that previous arrangements had been made with the head of the credits department of the Bank of North Dakota, L. P. McAnaney and that later the request was cancelled.
The witness said the statement to the Courier-News said Colwell and Ellis testified, falsely was "absolutely not true," that he did not doubt their veracity, but that they doubtless had a different understanding of the situation from his.

CHAMP MUSER'S MALAMUTES READY FOR DOG DERBY

Walter Goynne and His Lead Dog—Youkon

(N. E. A. Staff Special.)

The Pas, Manitoba, Feb. 25.—Speed of the finely-cared-for Alaska malamute will be pitted against the endurance of the roughly used northern Manitoba husky in the Hudson Bay Dog Derby set for March 1 for the championship of the world.

The dog classic, now four years old, at first was restricted to certain breeds of dogs. Now it's open to all. The Alaska malamute, delicately cared for and fed, however, has dominated racing with its wonderful speed.

This year the course is double.

Course Doubled.
The race will be from The Pas to Fin Fyn and return—a distance of 200 miles.
Increased length in the race course gives the Northern Manitoba husky a chance to win.

This breed of dog is stronger and possesses more endurance than his malamute brother.
During the racing season he is fed on mutton chops and eggs. After the derby he goes back to his regular diet of frozen fish.

The husky is indispensable in the country where there are no railways or roads. He is the sole means of transportation.

Champ Mushers.
Walter Goynne of St. Paul, who won the race in 1920, is here with his champion team of malamutes. He is the only American entry.

Goynne covered the 100 mile course last year in 13 hours and 14 minutes. This classic may take between 30 and 48 hours due to the lengthened trail.

Besides Goynne other champion mushers here are Phillip Tobacco, Bateese Campbell, Joe St. Godard, Mose Azure, Jack Haynes and Sam Pranteau.
The men of the North swear by their dog teams. Their brag of feats of strength and stamina. Faith in their dogs develops into a sort of blind worship.

Weather counts for much in such a derby.

The mushers attribute success in the proportions to about one-third each to dogs, driver and weather.
The Derby has been held on St. Patrick's day for the last three years. Last time a blizzard raged over the frozen trail.

This year promoters advanced the date, hoping for better weather. The purse has been increased from $1,000 to $2,500.

It isn't the money that the hardy men of the North compete for.

Proving one string of dogs superior to another is their aim.

The race is open.

The only condition is that the identical dogs which start must finish.

Also smoked glasses and moccasins will be provided for them.

Dogs come first here in the land of snow and ice and hardship.
In the last race none of the drivers took rest or food until their dogs were rubbed down with alcohol, fed and bedded.

WOULD YOU RISK YOUR LIFE FOR A DOG?

Would you undertake to drive a dog team 200 miles across the frozen snows of the northland for the sake of a dog?

Would you risk your life just to prove that the dogs you love were superior to other dogs?

Mushers who drive teams in the Hudson Bay Dog Derby give thought to the small purse offered the winner.

They do not race for money.

Each wants only to prove his dogs are the best in the world.

Are our northern brothers better sportsmen than we?

AN INTERESTING ACQUISITION IN THE HISTORICAL MUSEUM

There has just been installed in the museum of the State Historical Society a very interesting exhibit consisting of a set of casts of a number of varieties of pumpkins and squashes which have been cultivated by the farmers of the Mandan and Arikara tribes for centuries past since before the time of Columbus.

It is a fact that we owe all varieties of pumpkins and squashes to Indian agriculture. They were unknown before the discovery of America by Europeans. They were native in the tropical part of the western hemisphere and were there brought under cultivation by the Indians, and thence distributed tribe by tribe until their future extended to the upper Missouri,

SHERWOOD TEACHER SERIOUSLY SCALDED WHEN PIPE EXPLODES MAKES NEW HIGH RUN

Sherwood, Feb. 24.—Miss Clara Johnson, principal of the north central school in Prosperity district, nine miles west of Sherwood, suffered serious scalding about the body, arms and limbs when a steam pipe leading from the heating plant exploded, throwing a stream of boiling hot water over her body and enveloping her in steam. Currey Steeves, 15-year-old boy, suffered severe burns in offering her rescue.
The heating apparatus had not been working satisfactorily and Miss Johnson went to the boiler room with the intention of encouraging the fire. She Circumcision.

Our grandson is one year old, strong and healthy. Should he be circumcised? Is it best to have it done while a baby, or to wait, and is there a law that it must be done?

It would be impossible to say without seeing the child whether or not your baby grandson needs to be circumcised. If his foreskin cannot be pushed back over the glands, or if it is very long even without a narrowing of the opening, it will be advisable to have the operation performed.
There is no federal law requiring circumcision, and I do not know of any state that makes such an operation obligatory.

Disseminated Infection.
Is it possible for only one physician to determine whether or not a tonsil is diseased? Also an adenoid?

If the child has repeated attacks of sore throat or has had St. Vitus' dance, rheumatism, or "growing pains," or any heart symptoms, you should advise the mother to have the child's throat examined by a qualified physician. If the child breathes habitually through the mouth (particularly at night), snores, or has frequent strangling coughing spells, an examination should be made for adenoids.

Thinness.
I am 18 and of a normal size, but the only thing that worries me is that my legs seem unusually thin.

The lack of muscular development in any part of the body can usually be remedied by the proper exercise of that part. This should be very easy in your case, provided that you are perfectly healthy and able to take suitable and sufficient exercise.

"Record Reader," a young man 20 years old, will send U. S. Public Health Service his name and address a personal reply will be sent to him."

LEMKE REPLIES IN HOT LETTER TO COMMITTEE

Attorney General Condemns Action
Concerning Funds

William Lemke, attorney general, has answered the house appropriations committee request that he appear before it and explain why he is soliciting funds from individuals to aid his department, by a letter condemning the house committee's alleged action in failing to provide sufficient funds. After declaring the house had all the information relative to the availability of funds Mr. Lemke said:

"Permit me further to state that I do not see wherein it concerns you if the people of the state see fit, by popular subscription, to supply the necessary funds which you have unwisely and willfully withheld from my office. Your actions speak louder than your words and I feel sure that the public has taken full measure of your conduct when they so liberally and enthusiastically subscribe a fund for my office."

If I believed that your attitude was now changed and that you were sincere in your desire to supply the attorney general's office with the necessary fund, I would take great pleasure in appearing before you and again repeating my former explanation of the necessity of prompt action on your part, but representing as I do the executive department of government I feel that my time belongs to the state and not to those who would cripple and hamper and destroy a great department of the government for political advantage.

I repeat that you are solely responsible for the fact that I have not been able to make the showing and preparation in the railroad rate case that I had intended to. However, the fact that the public did contribute and assure me that the expense of the litigation would be taken off, enabled me to make a showing, which I am satisfied will win the case for the state.

In conclusion, permit me to state that I am confident the majority of the house of representatives will, at the close of the session, pass the deficit appropriation for my office, together with the biennial appropriation.

Joyful Family Reunion

"Two of my brothers, a sister, as well as myself have been chronic sufferers from gas in stomach, indigestion, pain in right side near appendix and liver trouble for many years. My sister tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with such good results that we all took a course of it and it helped in each case. Last Sunday we had a family reunion in celebration of our recovery and what we all eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will relieve or money refunded.

Barberry or Wheat?
BLACK STEM RUST is caused by a well-known fungus parasite. In the spring it grows on the common barberry, on which it forms red spores (in "cluster cups") and these spores (seeds) are blown by the wind to the grasses or grains.
They germinate in moisture furnished by rain or dew and infect the grain or grass plants. The parasite gets inside and takes its food from the plant and then, within a week or two, produces the red or summer spores—rust familiar to any grain farmer.
This red rust is the summer stage of the black stem rust. These summer spores in turn are blown by the wind and infect other grass and grain plants. Thus many crops of red spores may be produced and each crop causes more rust. These spores will travel for miles on the wind and from grass to grass.
Later in the season the rust becomes black. This is the winter stage. The winter spores cannot germinate at once but lie dormant on the stubble or straw until spring, then they germinate.
But They Cannot Directly Infect Grains or Grasses
This black stage of the rust can infect only the common barberry.
Destroy the common barberry and the black stage of the rust becomes harmless.
The rust cannot then get an early start in the spring because it cannot maintain itself in this country in the red stage during the winter.
